A YOUNG mechanic recently got married to the girl of his choice, and the happy pair went to housekeeping. After the honeymoon was over, the young wile discovered that her hubby's temper was none of the sweetest, and that attempts at mollifying him by sweet smiles and kisses were generally flat failures while his dander was up; so, like a sensible young woman, she resolved on another plan of action, and soon had an opportunity to try it. Hubby was rather captions about his steak, but she made no excuse. "It's tough," said hubby, "and it's not cooked half enough." The young wife smiled, but made no defense. Then hubby got fearfully mad; he lifted his plate, and dashed it on the floor, with the remark. "Curse that steak!" His wife raised up her plate, too, and dashed it on the stove, with the remark, "that's me!" Hubby stared at the plate, at his wife, and at the floor, and said: "Why, Eliza, you should not mind me. If I am a little hasty, I soon get over it." Becent reports indicate that even in the worst flood-The first importations of Lyons silks for fall and winter costumes are rich gros grains and faillies of very dark shades.

The handsomest brown failles are two shades of maroon, or chestnut-color; the first is very dark, and second with which the first is to be trimed, is a light shade, ranked as medium on the manufacturer's list. Fumer, or smoke brown, is the familiare shade called London smoke. There are three shades of pain bruke simi. ed districts the reports in regard to the loss sustained were considerably exaggerated and there is a more cheerful feeling in mercautile and manufacturing circles in mercattle and manufacturing circles in consequence, as general business and the the crops are closely connected, the prosperity of the former is dependent to a very large degree upon the latter. About the cally noticeable feature in the general market is an easier feeling in Breadstuffs. There is a fair degree of activity in Groceries and Provisions, although the demand familian-shade called London smoke. There are three shades of pain brule similar to those of former winters. Solitaire is unmixed brown, and next this comes Sienne brown with red tinges. Carmelite brown reappears, and there are a few bronze shades, but all such mongrel hues will be replaced by more positive colors. Negrillon, is brown that is almost black. Casta is black-currant color, with slight tints of blue, and promises to be a very ries and Provisions, although the deman is mainly for small lots to supply immediate wants. Coffee continues strong. Sugars are weak and lower. Sugar-cured Hams are higher. The fruit trade continues active, and dealers have about all they can do; Apples, Peaches, etc., etc., are coming in freely, but selling resultly at good prices. Butter and Cheese in fair demand, while Eggs continue dull.

BUTTER-There is a continued steady de mand for the finer grades, the sapply of which continues light. Sales of prime to choice at 2022c. As the grass is very abundant and in better condition than usual at this season of the year, it would not be surprising if Butter should rule lower in the latter than in former part of the sum-mer, although this is something unusual. Winter Louisines are heavy silk serges or basket-wove silks, like those worn during the summer, but thick enough for winter costumes, and in dark plaids illuminated by lines of brilliant color. Odd combinations of color are shown in these, such as brown grounds with mingled plaids of blue, scarlet and cream-colored, or else dark indigo-blue grounds with red and blue bars. Handsomer than these are the damask serges of soft pliable twilled silk in blocks of two shades of brown, blue, gray or prune. There also
